

THREADS of PROTEST: Human Rights in Childbirth

Every day, women experience violations of their human rights during pregnancy and childbirth, from neglect to forced sterilisations and obstetric violence. Globally, women continue to give birth in refugee camps, war zones, prison and in poverty.

Join us in raising awareness of these issues by contributing to our crochet exhibition. We will be yarnbombing two gallery spaces at:

The Atkinson, Southport July 2025 - September 2025

The Curiosity Cabinet, London September 2025 - January 2026

Donate your crochet granny square to these exhibitions by sending it to:

Threads of Protest, PO Box 239, Liverpool, L37 8YU

or dropping it off at:

A Modern Yarn, 39 Chapel Lane, Formby, L37 4DL

For more information and to learn about the people and organisations involved go to:

www.gemmamckenzie.co.uk/threadsofprotest
or contact gemma.mckenzie@kcl.ac.uk

Funded by the Economic and Social Research Council and supported by King's College London, Association for Improvements in the Maternity Services (AIMS), A Modern Yarn, Chrysalis, The Apex Trust and Refugee Women Connect.
Artwork by Michelle Freeman